Reading and Writing

Kid Normal - Listen and discuss

Listen to Chapters 1 and 2 of Kid Normal.

Talk to someone at home about Murph's feelings of moving home and school. What things may he be feeling excited for? What other feelings may he be experiencing and why?

Kid Normal – Writing Activity and Comic strip

What would be your dream super power and what name would you give yourself?
(The more imaginative the better!)

What would you do with your super power? Imagine you have this super power and write a short story. If you have access to a printer, use the Comic Strip download to print and then create your own comic strip, telling the story of a day with your super power.

In year 5 we look at the differences in the life cycles of a mammal, an amphibian, an insect and a bird. This week we would like you to watch a video clip about life cycles and a clip of the life cycle of a chicken. Using your notes and additional information from further research e.g. books and Internet sites, start to create a Life Cycle presentation (on iPad or paper). Your 1st page for this week will be of an annotated life cycle diagram of a chicken. Remember to draft out your ideas first.

Lockdown Capsule

Make a lockdown capsule. This is a great way to put a positive spin on home isolation and will be interesting to reflect on in the future. Use an old shoe box or jar to fill with pictures, paintings, diary entries and reflections that will be great memories for you in the future. When lock down is over, you could bury the capsule or put it somewhere safe and agree on a date when you can open it to remember this unusual time!
