

Household Items from the Past

Before phones were mobile, they had cords which were plugged into the wall.

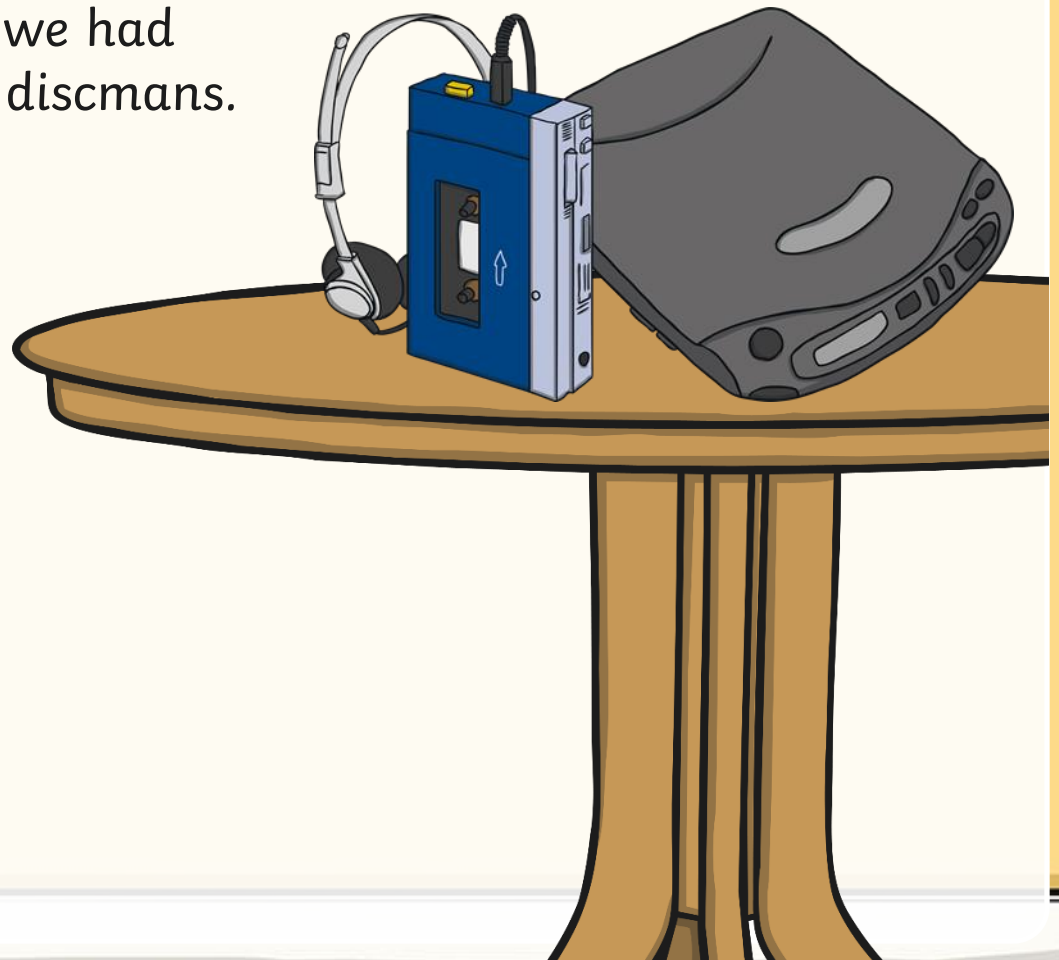

Before digital cameras, there were polaroid cameras which created an instant photograph.

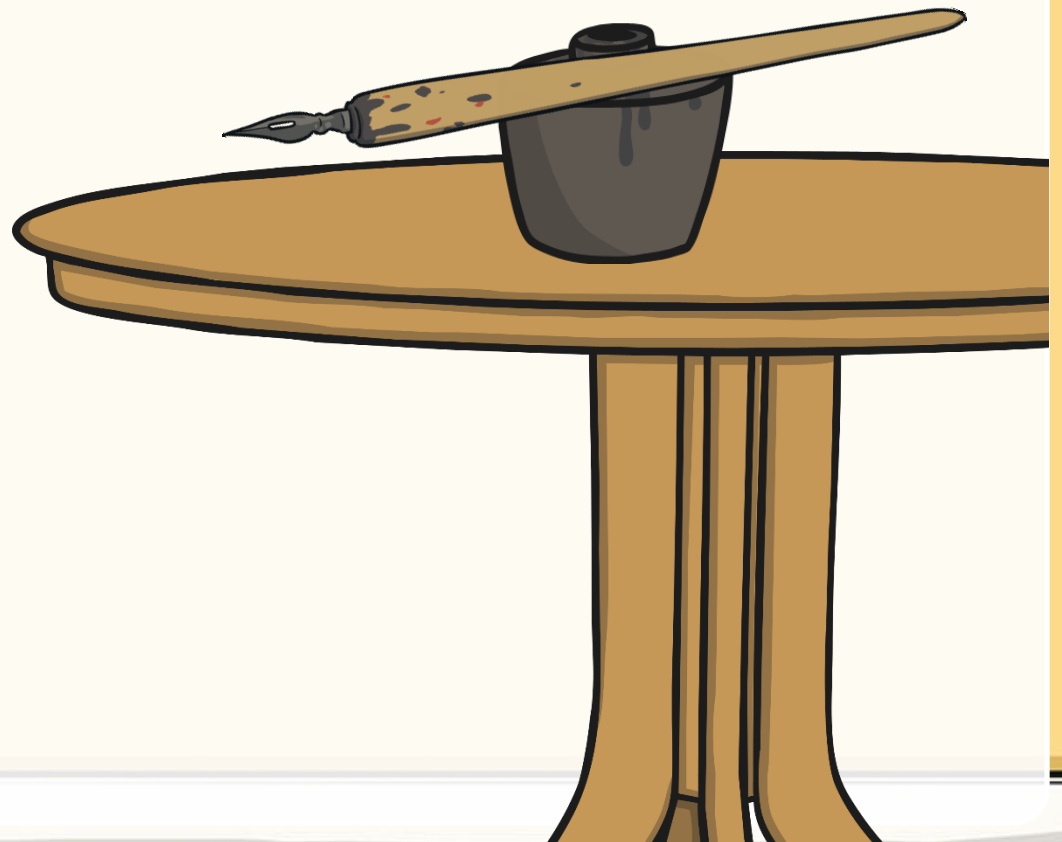

We could listen to music and watch movies using tapes.

Before we had iPods and mobile phones to listen to music, we had portable tape players and discmans.

Before pens and pencils, we used a special pen nib which we dipped into ink.

Before we bought milk in plastic bottles, milk was delivered to the house in a glass bottle.

What other things from the past do we still use today that might look different?
